

USING THE SHORTCOURSES.COM WEB SITE

This is a very simple site to navigate. All of its contents are organized into on-line books. These books open with a contents page, followed by page after page of material of interest to digital photographers. The navigation buttons described in this section are found throughout the site. The buttons that relate to purchasing books are found only in the bookstore.

Button	What happens when you click it
	Jumps you to the ShortCourses.com Home page.
	Displays the previous/next page in an on-line book. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• When you click the next page button on the last page of a book it loops you around to the contents page.</li> <li>• When you click the previous page button on the contents page of a book it loops you around to the last page.</li> </ul>
	Displays the previous/next chapter opener (not all books are organized into chapters and in books that aren't these buttons are grayed out). <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• When you click the next chapter button anywhere in the last chapter of a book it loops you around to the contents page.</li> <li>• When you click the previous chapter button on the contents page of a book it loops you to the beginning of the last chapter.</li> </ul>
	Returns you to the current book's contents page from anywhere in the book. This button appears on every page of the site other than the home page and book content's pages.
	Available only on book contents pages, these buttons display the contents page for the previous/next book so you can quickly browse contents pages one after another to locate what you are looking for in the library. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• When you click the next book button on the contents page of the last book it loops you around to the contents page of the first book.</li> <li>• When you click the previous book button on the contents page of the first book it loops you around to the contents page of the last book.</li> </ul>
	Back and Forward buttons on your browser let you retrace your steps through the site.
